

WANTED for XIth SQG CONFERENCE SCIENTIFIC STUDIES ON GESTRONOMETRICS

Last Deadline for Submissions: February 17/02/2016

The aim of this conference is to bring experts from different scientific disciplines together and ensure professional exchanges between these researchers who work in fields related to vine, wine (and other drinks) and food. This event was initiated by economists (some of them econometricians) and is enriched by the contributions of Geographers, Lawyers, Historians, Medical Professionals, ...

SQG 11th annual Conference
(joined with the 23rd annual Conference of VDQS & EuAWE)

In COLMAR – FRANCE,
May 25-28, 2016

The annual conference of the SQG (Society of Quantification in Gastronomy) allows researchers around the world involved in the sector of gastronometrics, to present their work and analysis. These may relate to the markets of "gourmet" products (excluding wines and spirits): for example olive oil or tomatoes or citrus fruits, meat or fish, cheese, ... especially on modeling these markets, strategies and impact of labels, distribution networks, ... But also on the relationship between quality and taste of food or the analysis of the results of taste classification: quality and gastronomy, the evolution of food and the institutions of gastronomy; And also the relevance of (gourmet) classification of restaurants or hotels and the impact on profitability of this recognition.

Further information

On-line submission

This conference is organized by the Society for Quantification in Gastronomy - SQG (<http://www.gastronometrica.org>)

It will be held jointly with the European Association of Wine Economists – EuAWE (<http://www.euawe.org/index.asp?langue=en>), and is prepared in the framework of the Vineyard Data Quantification Society - VDQS (<http://www.vdqs.net>)